COTTLE — BENNETT

Mr. J. M. Cottle of this place and J. D. Bennett of Somerset were married Sunday, Sept. 18, in the office of County Judge Lynn B. Wells, with Judge Wells performing the ceremony.

Mr. Bennett was formerly in the oil business, but is now retired. Mrs. Bennett, widow of the late John Bennett, was formerly a teacher in the West Liberty high school and has been employed at Dayton for the past three years as a bookkeeper. They now reside at 1517 Shawano place, Summit court, Dayton.

COTTLE — CONCANNON

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cottle of Cottle announce the marriage of their daughter, R. Victoria Cottle of Dayton, O., to Tom M. Concannon, also of Dayton. The marriage was solemnized at Columbus, O., on July 31. Mrs. Concannon is a graduate of the West Liberty high school and has been employed at Dayton for the past three years as a bookkeeper. They now reside at 1517 Shawano place, Summit court, Dayton.

ROBINSON — COTTLE

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cottle of Miami, Fla., and Anna Elizabeth Robinson, also of Miami, were united in marriage Aug. 28 at the Presbyterian Methodist church in Miami by a navy chaplain. Jesse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Cottle of Cottle, and is a graduate of the West Liberty high school. He has been serving his country in the navy the past three years, and has been overseas the greater part of that time. He is now stationed at Miami, Fla., as an instructor. Mrs. Robinson was formerly employed by the government in radio work for a year and a half.

ASHLEY — DENT

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ashley of Louisville announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Ashley, to Pfc. Eldridge O'Neil Dent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Dent of Garrison, Texas, on September 7, 1943, at Louisville. Immediately after the wedding they left on their honeymoon for Indian Lake, Ohio. Pfc. Dent is stationed at Grenada, Mississippi. Dorothy will stay with her parents at present. The Ashley are formerly of this place and has many friends here, with whom the Courier joins in wishing the new couple a life full of happiness.

Rowland Gets Award

First Lieutenant A. Rowland of Ezel was one of three officers recently awarded oak leaf clusters, in lieu of additional air medals, for dangerous flights to drop supplies and transport troops at advance position in the southwest Pacific area, the war department announced this week.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETS

Members of the Morgan county Women's club met in a general business meeting Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. This meeting, called by the club president, Mrs. Harold Nickell, opened the new club year.

Shortly before the general meeting, Mrs. Nickell met with her executive committee in a short business meeting for the purpose of selecting a new member list to present to the club.

The general meeting followed immediately with the club president presiding. New business chiefly concerned the drive for new members to the club. The new member list selected by the executive committee was submitted and unanimously approved by the club, there by insuring a 10% increase in membership for the club year.

Mrs. Harold Nickell and Mrs. Woodrow Barber were selected as delegates to represent the club at the district convention to be held in Mt. Olivet October 2. Alternates are to be announced later.

Vacancies that have occurred in the various departments were filled by new appointments. Comments and suggestions for the year's program were heard in open forum at the close of the meeting.

The executive committee submits the following committees and chairmen for the club year 1943-44:

Civic and garden department: chairman, Mrs. W. C. Reeves; co-chairman, Mrs. S. Monroe Nickell.

Home makers department: chairman, Miss Christine McGuire, co-chairman, Mrs. Boyd Blair.

Fine arts department: chairman, Mrs. Woodrow Barber, co-chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Fairchild.

Publicity: chairman, Mrs. Lyle C. Tackett; co-chairman, Mrs. J. Blaine Nickell.

Promotion: chairman, Mrs. C. P. Henry; co-chairman, Mrs. C. K. Stacy.

Year Book: chairman, Miss Floris Cox, Mrs. Nancy Turner and Mrs. Rex Byrd.

War Service: (a) Americanization, Mrs. James D. Davis; (b) consumers problems, Mrs. J. L. Blair; (c) library, Mrs. Crystal Howard; (d) nursing, Mrs. Pauline D. Blair; (e) recreation, Mrs. A. P. Gullett; (f) nutrition, Mrs. Roy Nickell; (g) bands and stamps, Mrs. Ova O. Haney.

Club officers for the year are: president, Mrs. Harold Nickell; vice president, Mrs. A. P. Gullett; recording secretary, Mrs. Alex Spencer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. J. Nickell; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Traynor.

SHOE DEALERS—NOTICE!

Inventory of shoes must be taken in your establishment Sept. 30, 1943.

All shoe merchants, regardless of how few pairs of shoes he carries in stock, must file another inventory which must be taken at the close of business Thursday, Sept. 30.

This inventory must be made in duplicate, one copy retained in the dealers file for his record, the other copy mailed before October 10 to the Central Inventory Unit, Empire State Building, New York City.

If there are incidents where a dealer has not filed his original inventory which should have been done April 10, 1943, he must still make such an inventory on form R-1701 and attach to the copy of his present inventory which must be taken on Sept. 30. These records must then be forwarded to the New York address. The new forms will be mailed direct to all shoe dealers who have registered and those who have not done so may obtain form R-1701 and the revised form R-1701A at the local war price and rationing board or the district office.

OFA states there will be more rigid enforcement from this time on regarding shoe inventories, and merchants who have not filed such an inventory, for this is a violation of Ration Order 17 and there can be severe penalties imposed for not adhering to these regulations.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Christian churches of the Morgan county annual meeting district, composed of the Christian churches of Morgan county, one church in Elliott county, and three in Wolfe county was held in the West Liberty Christian church September 17-19.

After a business session Friday afternoon, the chairman, Bro. J. F. Walters, preached, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, Bro. Dewey Havens, pastor of the London Christian church, a former resident of Morgan county, delivered the sermons.

A business session was held Saturday morning at which officers for the ensuing year were elected: S. M. Nickell, chairman; Mrs. Ova Maxey secretary. Bro. James Lawson preached the sermon.

The church served lunch in the basement of the church for the visiting delegates and preachers.

Saturday afternoon, a general discussion on Sunday schools, young people's work, and the Lord's Supper was closed by a talk by Dr. Charles Brooks of Lexington, secretary of the Missionary Society of the Christian churches of Kentucky.

After Sunday school at the church, the Sunday services were held in the auditorium of the school, with communion service and sermon by Dr. Brooks.

Committees were appointed to take care of the evangelistic work for the coming year, and to select a place for the next year's meeting, whose reports will be made at a later date.

Besides the business and religious services, the annual meeting has always been a get together meeting for old friends and relatives and the new ones.

MEMORIES OF A SWEETHEART

Mr. Arthur Farris, 56 Burns Ave., Dayton, Ohio, laid to rest in the Williams Cemetery, Seitz, Ky., July 11, 1943.

Sweethearts young, alive and gay, Live to love and sing and play. Sorrow and pain they do not know, Until a loved one has to go. Moments we together spent, So in love before you went, Life together we could not spend Because your life had to end. You were happy and each day, You cheered others in every way. A song was in your heart Even the day we had to part. You called me to your bedside when I was ebbing and you were thin, With your head on my shoulder, I knew that life would soon be over.

You told me that you loved me, The love in your eyes I could see, With that you drifted off to sleep, Another soul for God to keep. The angels came two months ago, Led you to your bed below, Left me with a bleeding heart, Because we, sweethearts, had to part.

Since God called you to His throne, And you left me all alone, I wonder if where you are, You are watching me from afar. I see your casket lined with white, When I go to sleep at night, Kiss your lips so still and cold, Caress the hand I loved to hold. I've missed you, dear, every day, Since Lord took you away, If it's His will we'll meet again, In Heaven where there is no sin.

Flowers on your grave I placed, Toward the bright sun they faced, Placed there at your request, Before you were laid to rest.

Your loving Sweetheart, Miss Goldia Bach, 1414 East 3rd Street, Dayton, Ohio.

Rev. Harlen Murphy has sold his interest in Murphy & Co. Funeral Home to his partner, H. D. Potter.

MORRIS

Nancy E. Morris was born Feb. 24, 1863, at Caney, Morgan county, Ky., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James and Louise Griffiths, and departed this life Sept. 14, 1943, at the age of 80 years, 6 months and 20 days.

She accepted Christ as her Savior in her early life and became a member of the United Baptist church and lived a devoted Christian life until the end.

She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters and one son, Mrs. Press Haney of Hazard, Mrs. O. B. Vance of Ashland, Mrs. Hattie Vance of Stacy Fork, and R. K. Morris of Mt. Sterling, also 26 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends.

MAY

Hager Harold May, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner May of Insko, died of diphtheria, September 15, 1943. He was 11 months and 23 days old, and was a very lovable little boy.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abner May; one sister; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. May of Insko and Mr. and Mrs. David Caudill of Carey, O., and several other near relatives.

Although their loss is great, they should realize that their loss is heaven's gain, for Christ said in His word, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

The little one was laid to rest Thursday afternoon in the family cemetery near Insko.

The entire community extend their deepest sympathy to the family in the sad hour of their bereavement.

WHEN THE BELLS CALL

For almost three years I have served as manager of the Murphy & Co. Funeral Home, and I can say that Rev. Harlen Murphy was a splendid partner in this business with me, and found him to cooperate in carrying on our business together. Due to his health I took over his interest in the funeral business and became owner. I will continue to operate at the same location until the first of November, after which I will find a new location and continue to serve and lighten the burdens of the bereaved.

When God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call back to His fold a human soul, and when the earthly remains of one beloved must be laid to eternal rest, then it becomes the sacred duty of our profession to assist the bereaved living in this last task of their love for the departed.

In carrying out this sacred duty I will do my part.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Forces Offer Stiff Resistance As Allies Continue Advances in Italy; Russ March Across Northern Ukraine; WFA Announces Control of Milk Sales

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

News of Italy's unconditional surrender was greeted with open jubilation in the garment manufacturing district of New York, with celebrants ankle deep in improvised confetti, etc., as shown above.

ITALY:

Battlefield, After All

Italy's unconditional surrender to the Allies did not spare that country from becoming a bloody battlefield in the war.

Trapped all along the Italian boot when the Badoglio government gave up the fight, German forces put up stiff resistance as Allied armies swarmed ashore to occupy the mainland. Bitter fighting occurred near Naples and in Rome, where Germans were reported to have seized control to establish their own puppet regime, in the name of Benito Mussolini.

Meanwhile, Italian service men, told to resist German attempts to prevent them from giving up, appeared divided in their loyalty to the Badoglio government. While Italian soldiers were reported aiding the Allies in the south, the Germans claimed many others were standing by the Axis in the north, where the Nazis planned a last ditch fight along the mountain range of the Po valley.

Escorted by the British navy, three Italian battleships and an assortment of cruisers and destroyers reportedly were steaming for Allied ports in North Africa, there to join in the fight against Germany.

Economic Problem

Though Italy's capitulation was of unquestioned military value to the Allies, its occupation posed difficult economic problems. To Calvin Baldwin of the office of foreign economic co-ordination will go the task of straightening the situation.

First, Italy is deficient in coal, iron and petroleum, though it has quantities of mercury, bauxite and sulphur. Secondly, the country's food production is unbalanced, insufficiencies in grains, meats, fish, oils and eggs offsetting surpluses in fresh, citrus and dried fruits, nuts, vegetables, cheese and rice.

Thus, if use is to be made of industrial facilities, raw materials would have to be brought in; if advantage is to be taken of her peculiar agricultural production, some provision of imports of other foods will have to be made.

RUSSIA:

Regain Resources

Proceeding to shorten their lines in Russia, made more necessary by the collapse of Italy, the Nazis fell back on the Dnieper river, surrendering the vital Donetz industrial basin as they retreated.

Farther to the north, the Germans' withdrawal put Russia in re-possession of much of the fertile farmland of the Ukraine, famed for its wheat and cotton.

Although the Reds regained access to coal and iron and foodstuffs, the Germans' destruction of the Donetz's factories and their requisition of the Ukrainians' harvests deprived the Russians of immediate use of these resources.

In Moscow, a 224-gun salute marked the Russian successes.

CHINA:

U. S. Air Force Grows

The Japanese have sent a new Zero into Chinese skies, one with a higher ceiling and better diving characteristics, but gradual reinforcement of the 14th U. S. Air Force is making it more and more of a threat to the enemy's defensive and economic outpost on the Chinese mainland.

Shipment of Lightning P-38s to the 14th AAF gives Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault a speedy fighter to use in combination with bombers at his command.

Although the 14th AAF has been used in support of Chinese land armies and for pounding Jap communications, storehouses and industrial installations set up in occupied sections of the country, it looms of greater strategic importance as a threat to the Japanese homeland if northern bases are gotten.

AGRICULTURE:

Less Cotton

Continued hot, dry weather causing considerable deterioration in the western portion of the cotton belt, was a contributing factor in the department of agriculture's forecast as of September 1 of a 1943 cotton crop of 11,670,000 bales, 7 per cent below the August 1 estimate.

Lint yield per harvested acre was indicated at 25.7 pounds above the 1942 figure, but below the record 1942 figure.

Regions hit hardest according to the department of agriculture, include Texas, where production estimates as of September 1 were 375,000 bales below a month ago; Arkansas, down 200,000 bales; Oklahoma, down 125,000 bales; Mississippi, down 120,000, and Tennessee, down 45,000 bales.

Wheat in Loan

Because farmers are able to obtain more for their wheat on the market than the $1.28 a bushel advanced on loans by the Commodity Credit corporation, pledges on the 1943 crop approximate half of the total prevailing at this time last year. Then, 94,418,000 bushels were being held by the U. S.

On the 44,355,725 bushels in loan, $56,964,137 was paid out, the CCC stated. Warehouses held 39,370,000 bushels, and 4,985,459 bushels were stored on farms. Officials estimated that the entire 1943 loan stock would not exceed 200,000,000 bushels.

As of September 8, the government held about 127,000,000 bushels of wheat, and was disposing of 1 1/2 million bushels daily for feed in deficit areas.

RUBBER:

Synthetic Hopes High

If all of the necessary materials going into the manufacture of synthetic rubber can be supplied in 1944, production should approximate 850,000 tons, Bradley Dewey, newly named rubber director, declared.

Even as Dewey spoke, the War Production board ordered 12 major textile mills to devote their facilities exclusively to the fabrication of cotton and rayon tire cords. Previously, the mills had been making cotton duck for the army.

Production of synthetic rubber in September will exceed 30,000 tons, Dewey said, and tires made from the material are equal to all but the top grade from natural rubber. Next year, a minimum of 30 million tires will have to be made and distributed for essential civilian driving, Dewey added.

CONGRESS BACK:

Studies Draft, Taxes

The question of deferring fathers and of raising an additional 12 billion dollars in taxes confronted congress when it resumed sessions.

Consideration of a proposal by Sen. Burton Wheeler to postpone induction of draftees until January 1 loomed in the senate, while Rep. Andrew J. May declared he would offer a bill to not only prohibit drafting of fathers — but also setting a limit on the size of the army.

President Roosevelt's request for 12 billion dollars of new taxes to raise total receipts to 50 billions a year is expected to arouse bitter debate in congress over methods for obtaining the money. A sales tax, preferably on manufacturers, a spending tax over certain exemptions, and increased income and corporation taxes have been suggested as revenue sources.

HOGS:

To bring the livestock population in line with feed supplies, the government announced that effective October 1, 1944, it will support prices for good to choice hogs between 190 and 230 pounds at $12.50 a hundred pounds, $1.25 less than at present. Under the new program, heavy hogs will not be supported.

Pigs farrowed next spring will be sold under the new regulation. According to the government, prospective feed supplies will justify a spring crop of 61 million pigs.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

UNEXPENDED WAR FUNDS MUST BE WATCHED

THAT CONGRESS has fully provided funds for war purposes is demonstrated by the fact that of the money appropriated for expenditure up to July 1 of this year, 203 billion dollars had not been used but was still subject to the call of the administrative departments. It means the departments had in their hands a sum equivalent to an average of $1,561 for each man, woman and child in the nation. That is nearly twice the amount that has actually been expended for war purposes during the years of 1941, '42 and '43. From July 1, 1940, to July 1, 1941, expenditures for war purposes amounted to $6,301,043,165. For the next year, ending July 1, 1942, the expenditures amounted to $26,011,065,089, and for the last year, ending July 1, 1943, the total was $70,219,400,244.

In addition to the 203 billions of unexpended balances, congress has provided well over 100 billion for war purposes for the current fiscal year, ending July 1, 1944.

Senator Byrd is asking the "why" of these tremendous unexpended balances. He sees in them a danger to American institutions in placing so much, evidently unneeded money, in the hands of government departments. Congress could, and possibly may, recall such balances as have not been expended, or for which contracts have not been let. Congress has voted money like the proverbial drunken sailor. If it is not needed it would be well to relieve the taxpayers of as much of the war burden as is possible of saving. That $1,561 is quite a sum for each one of us to meet. That, plus the individual portion of the appropriations for this year, means an average of better than $2,500 for each man, woman and child, or a mortgage for each family of five of $12,500.

WISHLIF THINKING WILL NOT WIN ELECTIONS

WISHLIF THINKING does not win elections. Before the votes are counted the "outs" can wish themselves in and the "ins" can wish themselves in again. Even at this early date wishful thinking is being indulged in by candidates for nominations for every office up to that of President.

Listening in at occasional small gatherings of party workers or friends of some candidate reminded me of one man who did more than wishful thinking. Some two weeks before the election in which Governor Landon was defeated for the presidency, in company with a Chicago acquaintance, I paid a call on Jim Farley at Democratic headquarters in New York. My Chicago acquaintance was for Landon, was wearing a big Landon sunflower and in a wishful thinking way was confident of the governor's success. After I had introduced him to the Democratic chairman he expressed that confidence in general terms.

Jim Farley pulled a number of sheets of paper out of his desk, a sheet for each state, and taking them one at a time, he told my acquaintance just what would happen in each state. Landon would carry two states. That Farley knew was demonstrated two weeks later when the votes were counted. He knew. I do not know the details of how he knew but Jim Farley was not a political organizer who depended on wishful thinking to produce the results he desired.

POST WAR RELIEF AND UNCLE SAM

IT IS BEING PROPOSED in Washington that philanthropic Uncle Sam, representing 6 per cent of the world population, should carry the greater portion of the post war relief and reconstruction expense. To do so the 20 cents, or more, out of each dollar in his pay envelope, the worker is now paying as income taxes, will be heavily increased and the American standard of living must be reduced to that of European and Asiatic nations. It all sounds very nice as expressed in idealistic words but will the American workman stand for such a program as expressed in his dollars? That new car, to be purchased when the war ends, would be definitely out and it would be potato or cabbage soup, instead of a beefsteak, for his dinner. America should, and will, do its share but let us be practical about the doing.

SHOULD Vice President Wallace put all the corporations out of business, as he threatens to do, who will pay the taxes needed to operate an expensive government?

WE CAN, IN TIME, pay off the war debt, large as it will be, by getting back to that adequate simplicity of government we enjoyed in the early years of this century. The cost in those years was well under a billion dollars a year and we had all the government we needed or wanted. We did not have, or know, the meaning of "bureaucrats."

WHEN THE DOCTOR comes home from the war he will find many people have recovered from the illness they thought they had.

Tripartite Picture Clearer Since Meeting in Quebec

U. S., England, Russia Agreed on Fundamental Policies; Observers Optimistic Concerning War and Post-War Cooperation.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

The ink is now dry on the secret footnotes which appear in the memoranda officially recorded after the long and quiet conversations which took place in the presidential study in the White House when the Allied strategists worked out the end of another chapter in the history of World War II.

My own modest notations, scribbled on the backs of envelopes, and on scratch pads, and written in taxicabs, leaning against a White House elm after a press and radio conference, taken down while the President or other officials were speaking, make a clearer pattern.

Words and phrases take on new meanings, rough sketches are filled out in revealing detail.

The speculation, the criticism, the attacks and the apologies which swirled about the Allied policy toward Russia, for instance, it is plain now was built mostly on half knowledge.

While press and public were crying for a tripartite meeting of the representatives of Russia, Britain and the United States, the arrangements for a whole series of meetings were already being made. It was not until almost the end of the Roosevelt-Churchill visit that we learned, first, that the tripartite meetings "on the foreign minister level" had been definitely agreed upon and, second, (which no one then guessed) that a commission was to be formed of representatives of all three powers to discuss the situation arising out of the Allied victories in the Mediterranean in which Russia is so deeply concerned but which, militarily speaking, she has been forced to view from a distance. When we received that news, we were unable to indicate its source.

The Darlan Question

Another source of bitter controversy which has been allowed to fester was cleared up at the same time. Certain groups in England and America from the very beginning violently objected to the choice of Darlan as the man with whom the Allies dealt in North Africa. There have been two revelations on that score which, had they come earlier, might have cleared the air.

One concerns the Russian attitude — and the Russians certainly ought to lean as far to the left as anyone. It now seems that the Soviet leaders, frankly opposed to Darlan and all he stood for, actually accepted the British and American policy on the basis of an old Russian saying that in matters of military strategy — or comparable situations — it is sometimes necessary to deal with the devil and his grandmother.

A word from the chief of staff revealed in his annual report to the secretary of war is interesting in this connection. He says of the diplomatic preparation before the invasion of Africa: "Should an approach be made to a single Frenchman who proved unsympathetic to our purpose, we risked the slaughter of our soldiers on the beaches of North Africa as well as decisive losses to our shipping. . . unexpectedly, Admiral Jean Darlan, Petain's designated successor, and commander-in-chief of all French forces, was found to be in Algiers visiting his sick son when our forces landed. He was taken into protective custody and when it was found that French leaders stood loyal to the Vichy government, a series of conferences immediately followed with the purpose of calling a halt to the French resistance against General Patton's task force in the vicinity of Casablanca."

The Background

Then, on the morning of November 11, the Germans invaded France and Darlan obligingly rejected the pseudo-independent Vichy government and assumed authority in North Africa in the name of Marshal Petain and ordered the French to cease all hostilities.

Just what pressure or argument was used in getting Darlan to yield to Allied wishes has never been revealed or what his motives may have been — they may indeed have been prompted by the devil or his grandmother — but those who knew the inside military expediency, did not quarrel with his action. Death took Darlan from the picture. It did not end the arguments, but since we know now that the head of the Communist state of Russia was able to swallow Darlan, the squeamishness of some of the critics seems a little far fetched.

In the days that followed the recall of the Soviet ambassadors to London and Washington, the history over the absence of Stalin at Quebec increased. Roosevelt, Churchill and Secretary Hull were blamed — there was the blow-up over the charges by a columnist who said Hull was anti-Russian.

I talked with Secretary Hull about that time. Whatever his feelings may be regarding communism, he indicated from his remarks to me that Russia was looking sympathetically on the attempts at a joint conference, and a few days later, a high British source stated flatly there was no great divergence of views between the Soviets and the Allies.

Agreement

Both were thoroughly agreed on the necessity of the destruction of Nazi tyranny and Prussian militarism, and it was revealed that Marshal Stalin was rising in prestige with the army and that the Soviet army was rising in prestige with the Russian people until it was already on a level with the communist party itself. This seemed to indicate, as Captain Rickenbacker said when he returned from Russia, that the ideologies of the policies and the capitalist nations were growing nearer.

Today, as Washington looks back on this last visit of Prime Minister Churchill, there is a feeling that not only are Britain and the United States closer in both their war and their post-war aims, but that the possibility of bringing the Soviets into the circle is greater. One reason for this is that certain problems on which there has been disagreement have been met and thrashed out successfully between Roosevelt and Churchill and the way is open to a much more extended discussion with Stalin's representatives.

Meanwhile, the position of Secretary Hull, within the administration, has been greatly strengthened as one after another, he has taken over the functions of all agencies which have any dealings whatsoever with foreign countries. He has placed the question frankly before the President who had to choose between his secretary of state and those who opposed him inside and outside of the state department.

Hull's Position

Secretary Hull's position is this: the policies which I have sponsored and insisted upon have justified themselves. Either my department must have full authority in the field of foreign relations or I will hand in my portfolio.

The President faces, first, a congress which has had time to think over its position, has heard the complaints and received the advice of its constituents. It returns determined to imprint its will on national policy, foreign and domestic. Its texture is and has been for some time strongly away from the so-called new-deal policies, strongly toward the conservative side. Secretary Hull probably stands higher, has more friends, and can exert more influence with congress than any member of the cabinet. The President needs a congress which will stand behind him if he is to carry out the plans for further conduct of the war and the winning of the peace according to methods he believes it is necessary to employ.

And, of course, there is the fourth term ahead, for continuance in office is essential, the President's friends believe, if he is to mold the post-war world.

Secretary Hull is his anchor to windward. This is due to his political influence and also because he and what he symbolizes both at home and abroad, have become inextricably bound up in world negotiations.

And for the President, there is but one objective now — that is, to be the peacemaker as he was the war leader. All else — choice of counselors, domestic policies, must dovetail into that purpose.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

HANDICAPPED: Physically handicapped civilians can now receive federal assistance for surgery and hospitalization, as well as any special training that may be necessary to render them capable of self support. The funds are provided through the Social Security administration, Paul McNutt, administrator, announced in revealing details of the program.

WAR PRISONERS: About 1,200 American servicemen are held in Italian prison camps. These men will probably be released soon, as a result of the Italian unconditional surrender.

SHIPPING: American shipyards have completed and delivered more than 20 million tons of merchant vessels since Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, the OWI announces.

ABIDING VALUES FROM ISRAEL'S HISTORY

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 11:13-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14:34.

What makes a nation great? God's dealings with Israel answer that question. The history which we have briefly touched upon in our study of the first four books of the Bible is reviewed in Deuteronomy.

Moses, realizing that the end was at hand for him and that a new generation was about to go into the promised land, reviewed the history of the people, restated their laws, and renewed the appeal of God for their loyal obedience. This record is found in the Book of Deuteronomy, from which our lesson is taken.

We find here that the nation which is truly great—

I. Worships the True God (vv. 13-15).

There is a fundamental factor which must underlie all real national greatness—love of God. This has an inseparable corollary—serving Him "with all your heart, and all your soul."

Says the wise man of Proverbs (14:34), "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." We have well-nigh forgotten that fact. We need to be reminded of it again in God's word to Israel.

What is the result? The blessing of God upon the land, the giving of abundant harvest, in fact, the open-handed generosity of God.

II. Heeds God's Warning (vv. 16, 17).

This is the negative side. God dealt with Israel through promises if they were faithful, and the threat of judgment if they forgot Him.

One is as important as the other in the leading of a nation—and in the rearing of children. We, like our heavenly Father, should faithfully keep every promise; but we should just as surely fulfill every warning of coming judgment.

America has seen the handwriting of God in warning concerning its waywardness and sin. Will it heed and avoid further judgment?

III. Honors God's Word (vv. 18, 19).

Loving God and His Word is not a matter for theological speculation or for sanctimonious discussion in some dark cloister. Thank God the Christian faith is at its best in the ordinary affairs of life. It finds its proper place in the tender relationship of parent and child. Its teachings are pure, delightful, simple and entirely appropriate to any occasion, whether one sits or rises, walks or lies down. God's words are the words to be laid up in the heart and in the soul, to be taught to our children, to be the constant and normal subject of conversation.

IV. Testifies for God (vv. 20, 21).

Here again we have the home before us. And it is, of course, the home which makes the nation. If the home speaks for God, the nation will do so, inevitably and effectively.

We may not, as did the pious Jew, fasten a little container bearing God's Word on our doorstep, but we may make the home itself and the life of its inhabitants an effective testimony for God before our neighbors.

It is obvious that the home either speaks for or against God. A profession of faith in Him, an outward reputation for adherence to religious principles which does not vitally touch our dealings with one another and with the community in which we live—these clearly testify not for God but against Him. On the other hand, who can estimate the value of a sweet and orderly Christian home? Whether it be on a dusty city street, or on a quiet country lane, it is a light that cannot be hid.

V. Counts on God for Victory (vv. 22-25).

God promised that if Israel diligently kept His commandments, loved Him and walked in His ways, they would be a nation that would overcome and dispossess their enemies, and prosper in every good purpose.

God desires the nation which honors His name to stand before the other nations of the earth victorious and prosperous.

The purpose of the Lord for Israel was a far greater one than they ever achieved, because they fell into sin and drew back in unbelief. The limits of the land which He proposed to give them, as stated in verse 24, far exceed that which they did possess in Palestine.

God's plans are large plans. His promises to us, like those to Israel, are stupendous. We need to learn to take Him at His word.

"No man shall be able to stand before you" (v. 25) was the promise to Israel. "Ask what ye will" (John 15:7) is the promise to us. They failed because they did not believe God. Will we fail for the same reason?

Popular Basque.

IMMENSELY flattering frock that many a busy young woman finds a blessing. Grand for nine to five o'clock wear and perfect for dates.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1854-B designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) requires 4 yards 36-inch material.

Change Necessary

"Well, Doc," said the patient, "you and I have been pals since college days, and I couldn't think of insulting you by offering you money. But I've remembered you in my will."

"That's mighty fine of you," said the doctor. "And by the way, let me see that prescription again, will you? There's a little correction I want to make."

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

If authorities prove to be correct, post-war tires may give 75,000 or more miles of service. Super-tough rayon, nylon or improved cotton carcass will help to make this mileage possible.

Army raincoats formerly containing 40 per cent crude rubber now are made almost entirely of synthetic resin and oil-treated material. Crude rubber content of boots and overshoes has been cut about 40 per cent.

A complete armored division on the road has 13,488 tires in use, not counting spares and reserve supplies.

Aviator's Toothache

A dental cavity that never bothers an aviator on the ground will usually give him a toothache at altitudes from 10,000 to 30,000 feet, owing to the expansion of body gas at low atmospheric pressure, says Collier's. In several cases, the carious condition producing the pain was in such an early stage that it was not detectable in an X-ray photograph.

In the Navy a floor is a "deck," doors are "bulkheads," downstairs is "below," and a cigarette is a "Camel." At least, Camel is the favorite cigarette among Navy men, as it is among men in the Army, Marines, and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) And a carton of Camels is a favorite gift. Though there are now Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

AROUND THE HOUSE

To prevent braided or crocheted rugs from rumpling up, cover the backs with wall paper. After you wash rugs, paste on the paper and let dry thoroughly.

To speed up dish drying, take a dry towel in each hand.

Two-quart jars may be used in canning tomatoes and opened for use in winter when they will keep if not eaten at once.

Use bacon fat as shortening in waffles, pancakes and muffins. It flavors them nicely and conserves fats at the same time.

Wash and drain salad greens—lettuce, radishes, celery—before storing. Store in a cold place, preferably in covered dish in refrigerator.

But It Seems the Simple One Was Not Old Andy

In a little wayside town there lived old Andy, who was what is called in some parts a "natural." He was simple-minded and the villagers used to show him off to visitors by offering him two coins, a big five cent piece and a small silver dime. Andy would invariably take the nickel.

One day a visitor from other parts said to him: "Say, Andy, don't you know the difference between a nickel and a dime?"

"Sure," said Andy, "I know the difference between a nickel and a dime, but if I took the dime once, they would never offer me either one again."

Singing Sands

The "singing sands" of the Arabian desert have mystified travelers for thousands of years. These sands produce the most unusual sound effects, ranging from the rumble of drums to the high-pitched twanging of harp strings. Sounds are produced over the musical dunes by the movement of sand grains in the wind.

Only sand grains of a certain size, shape, and uniformity will produce these interesting sounds. This accounts for the vast acreages of silent sand in many lands.

"NEVER THOUGHT I'D BE REGULAR AGAIN!"

Cereal Brings Relief After Years of Dosing

Even if you have suffered for years don't lose hope. Read this happy experience!

"I'd had common constipation so bad, I knew something just had to be done. Finally, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, and I was never as happy in my life as when I found I was joining the 'regulars' again. Because that was one club I never dreamed I'd be able to join." Mrs. Daisy Dean, Columbia, Tennessee.

How can ALL-BRAN'S amazing results be explained—when so many other methods fail? Scientists say it's because ALL-BRAN is a rich source of cellulose elements—lack of which is a common cause of constipation. These special cellulose elements help the intestinal flora fluff up and lighten the contents of the colon for easy, natural evacuation! KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a "purgative" that robs the intestines of water! Not "roughage" that acts by sweeping you out! It's a gentle-acting, natural "regulating" food! Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly! Drink plenty of water! See if you, too, aren't amazed at the results! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek!

A SAILOR'S JOURNEY

Editor Courier:

I once was young and but a lad, And living with my mom and dad, But now I've grown up to be a man, I'm helping out the best I can. By joining up with Uncle Sam, I've ended up in no man's land; Now soon I'll sail over to Japan. I'll give them a message hand to hand And then, I know, they'll soon give up And I can go back to old Kentucky. And when I come back to old Ky, There'll be some guys who'll wonder why.

ASKS FRIEND'S ADDRESS

Below is a letter written by Mrs. Jennie Riggsby of Pamp by a boy in service asking for the address of her son, Pfc. Billy Riggsby.

% Postmaster, N. Y. C.
Dear Mrs. Riggsby:
I am a friend of your son. I was with him for six months and while we were at Shenango, Pa., he was shipped out. If you don't mind I would like to have his address. I first met him the fifth day of last November when we were going to take our examination for service. I know you are proud of your sons in service, and we sure our proud of our mothers.

A LETTER TO MOTHER
The following letter was received recently by Mrs. Florence Hamilton from her son, S. Sgt. Glenn B. Hamilton:

% Postmaster, N.Y.C.
Dear Mom:
Your most welcome letter received, and as always I was glad to hear from home. At present I am well and somewhat tired and even a little bit happy.

Don't worry about me, for I am in good hands. I hope Paul and the others are fortunate as I have been for the last few months. The officer in charge now has been in the company since it was formed, and I guess I was one of the happiest soldiers. When not on command he treated me more like a son than just another soldier that takes up the general army routine, and there is no one who appreciates him more—in fact, we all do, as he is and the other officers are as much and more than we soldiers can or do expect.

Is Paul still at home or has he passed his examination and in the army by this time? If so, send me his address, for I'll be interested to know what he thinks of army life.

Tell him to be a good boy wherever he goes and he will fare all right. Am sorry you will be lonely, but you know you wouldn't want us to be slackers, and mom, keep the home fires burning. We will come home in the future.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

"And let the Lord God be witness against you." So spoke Micah the prophet. The weight of testimony in a court room depends upon the character of the witness and the knowledge the witness has of the facts in the case. God Who witnesses against sinners is infinitely perfect. Jesus said: "My Father and I are one." If we wish to know what kind of God God is, then look at Jesus. He was nailed to a cross, but the judge who sentenced Him said, "I find no fault in Him." Under the white light that has been turned upon Him for nearly two thousand years He is still the one flawless character of history. "Never man spake as this man." He was the only character that ever lived who could stand on the platform and say, "Who can convict me of sin?" Since Jesus was God, we must admit the character of the witness against the sinner is unimpeachable.

Not only is the witness a perfect character; He knows all the facts in the case. Our mothers may not know. Our best friends may think we are good when we are bad. But God knows everything every man in this world has ever done, both right and wrong. God was there when we sinned. He saw us thru the wings of night. He took the trip on the train with us. He was along when mother could not go. He knew we were lying when we lied. He saw us when we bluffed. He knew when our voices became pious to cover up the impety of our heart. Not only is God the Witness Who knows and the flawless character; He is the Judge on the bench. He is the Witness. He is the Judge.

Some day all men and women are going to stand in God's holy presence. There is, of course, a sense in which a Christian does not come into judgment. The Christian's sins were judged at the cross when Jesus died. Yet even the Christian comes to the judgment seat to give an account for the deeds which he has done in his body. The Christian will not be condemned because the Lawyer, the Righteous One, paid his debt and suffered in his stead on a cruel cross. This Lawyer said if we would confess Him before men He would confess us before His Father, Who is the Judge, at whose bar men must stand some day. "What is on the docket against him?" the Judge inquires. "He sinned against the God of the universe," the clerk answers. "The wages of sin is death," the Judge says. The man who stand at the bar has nothing to say for himself, but his Attorney says, "Your Honor, this man is guilty. He broke the law. He sinned against You. See these nail-pierced hands and this wounded side. I died in his place. All the penalty of the broken law which this soul would have had to suffer thru the eternal ages was concentrated in My body on the cruel cross in that moment when I bowed my head and gave up the ghost." The Judge says, "The man is innocent." "There is therefore now no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus." "He that hath the Son hath life." "He is not a criminal. He is my child and Attorney who pleaded his case is his Elder Brother. He has a right to our house and to fellowship with us."

There is no hope at this bar of justice for those who spurn God's saving grace. There will be no attorney to plead their case. For, "he that hath not the Son hath not life." The Lawyer said if we deny Him, He will deny us before His Father. "The picture here of this court and the Judge and the Attorney is too literal," men say. It, of course, may not be just as we have described it, but according to teaching in the Bible, it will be as real as the description given in this article. So turn, sinner, turn! Why will you die?

LETCHER CIRCUIT COURT
J. Frank Lewis, Plaintiff
vs. NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE
G. Dennie Smith, Defendant

By virtue of an execution No. 4173 to me directed, which issued from the office of Clerk of Letcher Circuit Court in favor of J. Frank Lewis and against G. Dennie Smith, I will on Monday, October 4, 1943, at 1 o'clock P. M., be in County Court day, at the front door of the court house in the town of West Liberty, Kentucky, to expose to public auction sale to the highest and best bidder an undivided 1/2 interest in a tract of land lying on the waters of Pleasant Run creek in Morgan county, Kentucky, levied upon as the property of said G. Dennie Smith and on which his father, Billy Smith, now resides. Said land is bounded as follows:

On the north by lands of Henry Clevenger.
On the east by lands of Ned Perry heirs.
On the south by lands of Dennie Oakley.
On the west by lands of McKinley Fields.

And contains 150 acres, more or less; and being the same land conveyed to said defendant by Anna Lewis, et al., by deed dated January 17, 1927, and recorded in deed book 60, page 152, Morgan County Clerk's office, to which reference is had for more complete description; and will proceed to sell said land, or so much of it as will be necessary to satisfy said execution and costs thereon, to the highest and best bidder on a credit of 3 months from the day of sale, the purchaser giving bond with approved security to have the force and effect of judgment, on which execution may issue if the same is not paid at maturity, when and where due attendance will be given by me. Amount to be raised, $501.36.

D. H. PERRY,
Sheriff of Morgan county.

Uncle Sam Turns "THUMBS DOWN ON WASTE"

"CONSERVATION OF FUEL, MAN-POWER AND CRITICAL MATERIALS IS A 'MUST' IF WE ARE TO ACHIEVE THE MAXIMUM WAR PRODUCTION EVERY AMERICAN WANTS."

From a joint statement by Messrs. Ickes, Eastman and Nelson

YOUR Government through the War Production Board and other agencies asks for public cooperation in a voluntary program to conserve fuel, manpower and critical materials in order to achieve maximum production for war.

To accomplish this result, we are urged by the Government to ask all citizens to avoid waste of "coal, petroleum products, water, gas, electricity, transportation, and communications."

There is no shortage of electricity as such either for war needs or essential civilian use, but electricity is made largely from fuel and certain critical materials are required in connection with its production and use. As a result, electricity is indirectly involved in the program.

The War Production Board warns that no effort should be made to curtail uses of electricity necessary for public safety and health including eyesight conservation, plant protection, transportation, and production purposes.

The program applies to all electric customers, but more specifically to those who use electricity for commercial purposes. We are listing below the specific steps for voluntary conservation by commercial customers as recommended by the W.P.B.

Kentucky and West Virginia
Power Company

Suggested Voluntary Conservation By Commercial Users Of Electricity

It should be made clear to customers that the desired savings in lighting should be obtained primarily by the turning off of lights which are not necessary and by replacement at renewal time when lamps are burned out, with lower wattage lamps.

Indoor and Outdoor Advertising, Promotional and Display Sign Lighting

- (a) Daytime: Eliminate completely.
- (b) Nighttime: Reduce burning hours so far as practicable but in no case burn for an interval exceeding two hours and only during the period from dusk until 10 p.m., in terms of local time.
- (c) Electric signs necessary for direction or identification of places of public service, such as public restaurants, public lodging establishments, transportation terminals, etc., may be operated during nighttime but only while the establishment is open for business.
- (d) Reduce lamp wattage of all signs by the maximum practicable amount.

Decorative and Ornamental Lighting Including Decorative Flood Lighting

- (a) Exterior lighting: Eliminate completely at all times.
- (b) Interior lighting: Eliminate all non-essential lighting; reduce the balance by the maximum practicable amount.

Show Window Lighting which does not provide essential interior illumination

- (a) Daytime: Eliminate completely.
- (b) Nighttime: Reduce burning hours so far as practicable but in no case burn for an interval exceeding two hours and only during the period from dusk until 10 p.m., in terms of local time.
- (c) Reduce wattage by maximum practicable amount.

Lighting of Marquees (other than advertising signs) and Building Entrances

- (a) Daytime: Eliminate completely.
- (b) Nighttime: Reduce in intensity by maximum practicable amount consistent with public safety consideration.
- (c) Eliminate completely when establishment is not open for business except for amount necessary for protection.

Lighting of Outdoor Business Establishments

- (a) Daytime: Eliminate completely.
- (b) Nighttime: Reduce in intensity by maximum practicable amount.
- (c) Eliminate completely when establishment is not open for business except for amount necessary for protection.

General Interior Illumination and Show Case Lighting

- (a) Eliminate all non-essential lighting.
- (b) Reduce remainder by the maximum practicable amount consistent with public safety consideration and eyesight conservation.

General Conservation by Commercial Customers

- (a) Turn off lights and appliances when not actually needed.
- (b) Eliminate unnecessary use.

Air Conditioning

Adapt more moderate margins of reduction in temperature and relative humidity.

"Nighttime" as used above is the period between 30 minutes after sunset and 30 minutes before sunrise.

DEEP WATERS

©WILLIAMS W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY SO FAR: Robin Dale, a young artist, goes to Moose Bay to see her fiancé, Will McPhail. When Will is accidentally killed, his brother Angus blames Robin. She goes to Angus' fishing cruiser to see him. While she is on board the boat sails, carrying her, Angus, Pat Donohoe and a cabin boy named Romeo toward Labrador. The boat is seized by a man named Jenkins. Caught running contraband alcohol, Jenkins is trying to escape from a government patrol. When the boat sinks in a storm they are stranded on an island. Jenkins surprises Robin in the act of getting a cake of chocolate she has saved for Angus and Pat.

Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER XV

"So!" he whispered. "Cheating, sister? What have you got?"

She clutched the treasure tight against her breast. "It's mine!" she cried.

"Now don't be greedy, sister!" He came toward her. She was still on her knees in the low, cave-like shelter. At the thought of being caught there, panic swept her. She scrambled out just as Mr. Jenkins reached her. He caught her wrist with one hand, the cake of chocolate with the other. She clung to it, holding it with both hands against her body; and she screamed in a shrill, metallic way. He cried:

"Blast you, let go! Shut up!" He looked over his shoulder, still wrenching at the chocolate, and she bent her head and bit his hand.

He swore mightily, and he struck her hard in the face. Her head rang, and her legs gave way and she fell on her knees, still clinging to the cake of chocolate. He caught her wrist again, with his left hand, and there was an insane rage in him now. He drew his pistol and struck her knuckles with the barrel of it.

Then, behind him and a little above him, not a dozen feet away, the big Irishman came charging into view, Robin saw him. She cried Pat's name; and Jenkins, instantly reacting, jerked her around to serve as shield as big Pat Donohoe came on.

Since he first saw Robin on the wharf at Quail Rimouski, Mr. Jenkins had changed his mind about her half a dozen times. Beginning with the casual interest he might have felt toward any pretty girl, he had progressed to a lively resentment at her presence aboard McPhail's cruiser.

He did not actually see her slip down into the cleft to go to the shelter today. His back was toward her at the moment. But he glanced that way an instant later and, since she was no longer in sight, he knew at once where she had gone.

But he did not start toward Robin without a first cautious look around. Romeo was beyond him, laboring with a great boulder, a hundred yards or so away; and Angus and Pat were out of his sight on the other side of the naked dome where the monument was rising. When he was sure of this, Mr. Jenkins, as quietly as a cat, slipped back toward the head of the cleft.

When he came where he could see her, Robin was in the shelter, working in panting haste, shifting the rocks which he and Romeo had piled across the end of their refuge to shut out the wind. Mr. Jenkins came quietly down below the break of the ledge, so that no one could see him from the cabin above; and he watched in a lively curiosity. He was standing there, three or four paces away, when she turned to crawl out of the shelter with the cake of chocolate in her hand.

When Robin screamed, big Pat Donohoe had just reached the cairn with two or three rocks nursed in the cradle of his arms. As he dropped them, he heard her cry; and without a moment's hesitation, he raced that way. She and Mr. Jenkins did not hear his pounding feet; but Robin, looking past Mr. Jenkins, saw Pat on the ledge above them and cried his name. Mr. Jenkins had that much warning. He whipped around, and he drew her in front of him like a screen, the pistol in his right hand. At the same time, Pat's foot slipped and he fell awkwardly sideways, sliding over the lip of the ledge, landing absurdly in a sitting position ten feet away from where Mr. Jenkins stood with Robin fast in the steel circle of his arm. The breath went out of Pat with a grunt; and Mr. Jenkins, lips tight across his teeth, said sharply:

"Get up! Get out of here!"

But Robin cried, "Here, Pat!" She threw the chocolate toward the Irishman. The throw was awkward. The precious stuff landed on a sloping ledge and slid downward; and Mr. Jenkins swore at Robin and thrust her aside so that he could retrieve it. But she clung to his right arm—the pistol was in that hand—tugging at him, holding him back; and Pat, seeing his chance, came to his feet like a released spring and made his leap. Mr. Jenkins jerked free his pistol hand and fired.

When Mr. Jenkins fired, Pat was a lion in mid-leap. He felt the bullet like a flame stab his leg; but it did not stop him. Mr. Jenkins tried to twitch aside out of the way of Pat's charge; but he was driven back and down, Pat's great hands grappling for the pistol and for Mr. Jenkins' throat.

Robin, by the impact of Pat's leap, was knocked spinning to one side, and she fell, and Pat's heel caught her in the temple. It struck her senseless. Then the two men fell on top of her. She was under their threshing bodies, forgotten by them both while they fought.

Up to this moment, neither Romeo nor Angus had appeared. They were both too far away to hear Robin's scream; but they heard the pistol shot. Romeo instantly raced to take a hand in whatever here went forward. Angus, even before the shot, had some forewarning. He was on the opposite side of the island when he discovered that Pat had disappeared. With as many rocks as he could carry in his arms, Angus went toward the cairn to see where Pat had gone; and he had almost reached it when he heard the shot. He dropped his load and raced up to the cairn, and saw Romeo coming from the left, scudding like a rabbit along the break of the cliff toward the cleft from which sounds of battle rose.

Angus raced to cut Romeo off; but he was still ten or fifteen yards short of doing so when Romeo reached a spot just above the shelter. The man stopped there and whipped a knife from its sheath at the hip and balanced it in his hand, looking down into the cleft as if to pick a fair target.

There was no time to come to him before he threw the knife. Angus scooped up a rock half as big as a brick; and as Romeo raised his hand, Angus threw the rock with all his might at the man's head. It missed that mark, but it did strike Romeo's elbow fairly, with a sharp, cracking sound. Romeo's knife flew out of his hand, and he screamed with pain and whirled and saw Angus almost on him.

It was in McPhail's mind to get his hands on Romeo's throat and do a thorough job of it; and the intent was blazing in his eyes. Romeo dodged and darted away—and Angus saw Pat and Mr. Jenkins by the shelter just below him, locked together, rolling over and over in a tight and silent fury. Also, he saw that Robin lay as flat as a beaten rug under their thrashing bodies.

He forgot Romeo. He reached them in two jumps. Mr. Jenkins at the moment happened to be upmost. Angus hailed at Mr. Jenkins; and since Pat clung like a terrier to his foe, Angus threw them both aside together. They rolled down the slope, and Angus picked Robin up, holding her awkwardly, shaking her, trying to think of some effective thing to do.

Then suddenly he was cool and sane again. Robin was unconscious, dead perhaps; but there would be time to tend her later. Pat and Mr. Jenkins, still locked together, had somehow disappeared around the corner of the shelter, down the steep rocky slope toward the sea. Angus, wondering why Pat needed so long to handle Mr. Jenkins, turned to help.

But Pat needed no help. When Angus left Robin and swung that way, he saw Pat crawling laboriously up the slope toward him. There was no sign of Mr. Jenkins. The rain fog dropped smotheringly about them, and Angus called sharply:

"Where's Jenkins?"

Pat looked over his shoulder; and a gull on patrol in the fog looked down, turning its head sideways the better to see what lay broken on the rocks. It wheeled sharply, with excited cries, and Pat Donohoe said:

"The gull's found him, down below. Rest his black soul!"

"Dead?"

"He is that! We fell off a ten-foot shelf, locked together like two sweethearts; and he was undermost when we landed, praised be! If it hadn't been for him to break my fall, not even my head could have stood it. His didn't. Or maybe it was his back. I heard it crack." He grinned. "He saved my life, peace to him."

Angus said flatly: "Romeo's somewhere around. Look out for him. I've got to tend to Miss Dale. She's hurt."

He turned back to Robin, and lifted her into the shelter and laid her there and eyed her doubtfully, not sure what to do. Clearly, she was alive, for her breath stirred and she made gasping sounds; but there was a lump on her forehead, and her knuckles were bruised and broken, and her sweater torn. He held a handkerchief open in the spiteful little rain till it was dripping wet; then began to bathe her forehead and cheek and throat.

He had forgotten Pat. The Irishman crawled nearer on hands and knees till he came to the front of the shelter. He watched Angus for a while; and presently he said in a mildly persuasive tone:

"She's took nought but a crack on her head, sorr. She'll be fine!"

Angus nodded, still without looking around. "I guess so. I don't know, can't tell whether she's hurt or—just knocked out. She's coming around." He continued his ministrations; till Pat said, apologetically:

"Sorr, could you maybe be stopping the blood from running out of my leg here? I'm all thumb-handed like. I can't seem to manage it alone."

Angus looked around at him, in a quick surprise; and Pat lay softly down on his face and sighed and closed his eyes. Angus caught the big man in his arms.

It was time. Pat's leg was broken by that single shot which Mr. Jenkins had found time to fire. Waiting uncomplainingly while Angus tried to revive Robin, he had rolled up his trouser leg and pulled off his shoe and sock drenched with blood; but then increasing weakness left him helpless to tend himself. The bullet had entered just beside the shin bone, had come out through the back of the calf above the ankle. When Angus saw the wound, he understood how Mr. Jenkins had been able to fight so long against Pat's greater weight and strength.

With his thumbs he put pressure on till the hemorrhage slackened and stopped. He rolled his handkerchief, put a bit of rock in it, tied it around Pat's leg and twisted it with his knife for leverage. He tried to remember what to do next; and then Robin, in the shelter behind him, came back to his senses. Her head seemed like bursting, and her world was all confusion; but her first conscious thought was of that cake of chocolate. She had dropped it somewhere, somehow. She must find it. She crawled out past Angus; but when she saw what he was about, she made a low plying sound, and Angus said:

"Oh, hullo! I had to take care of Pat. He was bleeding badly. Are you hurt much?"

"I don't think so. Just my head, and my hands I guess. And I'm sort of—sore all over. Where's the chocolate?" He thought her mind was wandering; but he said: "I came to try and get it, and I did, but Mr. Jenkins caught me here, and then Pat came. Did Mr. Jenkins get it? Where is he?"

She looked around to see where Mr. Jenkins was, and discovered the chocolate, crushed and flattened, lying on the ground. She picked it up. She retrieved it jealously, forgetting Mr. Jenkins; and Pat came groping back to consciousness again. She said: "Here it is! See?" Pat groaned, and she cried: "Oh! Give him this, Angus! Let him eat it!"

"He doesn't need it yet. We've got to take care of this leg of his."

"Let me," she said. She loosened the tourniquet, watching the wounds of entrance and of exit to see what flow of blood there was. "No big artery cut, I'm sure," she decided. Angus recognized competence in her; and he watched her wet his handkerchief to make a cold pad to compress the wounds. He turned to look around, and saw Mr. Jenkins' pistol in a cranny among the rocks and picked it up. Then, remembering Romeo, he climbed to the ledge and saw the man not twenty yards away, stealth in his posture, creeping near. Angus raised the pistol, and Romeo whirled and ran, zigzagging like a snipe in flight to dodge the bullet he expected. But Angus did not fire. When Romeo was out of sight, McPhail remembered the knife she had found it where it had slid down off the ledge.

Robin called to him: "We need something for a bandage." Angus descended to her side. A bandage? Some garment they might tear into strips. In this windy cold, no rag they were could be spared. But Mr. Jenkins was somewhere below them, and he had no more need of clothing.

"I'll find something," Angus told Robin, and went down the rocky slope. He came to the ledge off which Pat and Mr. Jenkins in their fight had fallen. Mr. Jenkins lay like a rag beaten limp by rain, on his back, his eyes open; and Angus was shaken by the sight, till he realized that Mr. Jenkins was alive, was watching him.

Good Breads

"I want to know how to make good bread," is a desire expressed often by readers who write in and tell me their problems. Some feel making bread is a matter of good luck, while others are certain that if they just had a good recipe, they could make good bread.

Bread, good bread, is one of the easiest of all baked goods to make. The yeast bread takes longer for a process to be completed, but there is nothing hard about any of the steps. Bear in mind these essentials when baking bread with yeast:

1. Liquids used may be water, milk, diluted evaporated milk, potato water or a mixture of any of these. When using milk, scald and cool to lukewarm.
2. Yeast may be compressed, granular or dry.
3. Sugar is used to help yeast make leavening gas. Salt controls fermentation, gives flavor.
4. Add all flour necessary at the time of mixing, to keep dough from sticking, and to avoid dark streaks in bread.
5. Dough is kneaded until smooth and satiny. Curve the fingers over dough and push into it with the palms of the hands. The first kneading is longest—8 to 10 minutes required, never less than 5. After the dough is punched down the second time, only 2 minutes' kneading is necessary.
6. After the dough is kneaded, it is placed in a greased bowl.
7. Turn the dough over in bowl to grease it entirely and prevent a hard crust from forming. Cover dough with a cloth or waxed paper while rising. Temperature at which dough rises should be 82 degrees.
8. When punching dough down, punch hands into the center of the dough.
9. When dough has been punched down the second time and risen until double in bulk, and the dough retains dents when pressed lightly, it is ready for molding. Knead down and divide in portions for loaves.
10. Cover and let rest 10 to 15 minutes. To mold dough, flatten into a ball, fold lengthwise, and stretch three times the length of the pan. Overlap ends at center and fold lengthwise; flatten again, fold in thirds; seal edge; roll lightly and place in greased pan, fold down.

White Bread.
(Makes 4 1-pound loaves)
1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
4 teaspoons salt
4 cups liquid, scalded
1 cake yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
12 to 14 cups flour

Combine sugar, shortening, salt and liquid in a large mixing bowl.

Lynn Says:

Homemade Breads: Wash the bread box out thoroughly so the bread will stay fresh and moist longer. Every week, the box should have a soapy sudsing, and thorough drying out in the sunshine. Bread sometimes becomes stringy, if a certain germ is allowed to become imbedded in the box through lack of cleanliness.

Have freshly baked rolls often, by making a batch of refrigerator dough to have on hand. Then make a variety of rolls from it to add interest to the menu—caramel rolls, cinnamon twists, poppyseed rolls, orange-filled rolls, etc.

If homemade bread tends to get that day-old flavor, freshen the loaves by sprinkling a little water in a brown bag, placing loaf of bread in it, and into the oven for several minutes.

Cool to lukewarm, then add yeast, softened in lukewarm water. Add 4 cups of flour and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour and mix gradually to a dough that won't stick to hands or bowl. Knead lightly on a floured board 8 to 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, cover closely, and let rise until double in bulk (2 to 2 1/2 hours). Punch down and knead 2 minutes. Let rise again until double in bulk. Knead down. Divide into 4 portions for loaves. Cover and let rest 10 to 15 minutes. Mold in loaves. Place in greased pans. Cover closely and let set in a warm place until doubled in bulk and a light touch leaves a dent. Bake in a moderately hot (400 to 425-degrees) oven 40 to 45 minutes.

Bread is done when it shrinks from the pan and sounds hollow when tapped with finger. Remove loaves from pans immediately and cool on rack. For a crisp crust, neither grease nor cover loaves when cooling. For a soft crust, brush top of loaves with fat or salad oil after removing from oven.

Refrigerator Rolls.
(Makes 3 dozen medium-sized rolls)
1 cup milk, scalded
1 cup hot mashed potato
1/4 cup shortening
1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cake yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
2 beaten eggs
5 to 6 cups flour

Combine milk, potato, shortening, sugar and salt in large mixing bowl. Add yeast softened in water and eggs. Add 1 1/2 cups flour and beat well. Cover and let stand in a warm place for 1 hour, or until full of bubbles. Stir in 3/4 to 4/5 cups of flour to make a fairly stiff dough. Knead until smooth on a lightly floured surface. Return to greased mixing bowl. Grease top of dough. Cover and chill in refrigerator. About 1 1/2 hours before serving time, shape desired number of rolls. Place in greased pans; let rise 1 hour. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. Punch down unused dough and return to refrigerator.

You don't have time to make yeast rolls or bread? Then you will enjoy a lovely quick bread with a cherry-bran combination that is tops:

All-Bran Cherry Bread.
(Makes 1 loaf)
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 cup light brown sugar
1/4 cup chopped maraschino cherries
1/4 cup chopped nuts

2 1/2 cups flour
4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 1/4 cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 cup all-bran
1/4 cup chopped maraschino cherries
1/4 cup chopped nuts

Melt butter in loaf pan and sprinkle sugar, cherries and nuts evenly over bottom of pan. Sift flour with baking powder, sugar and salt. Beat egg, add milk and shortening and stir into flour mixture. Add bran, cherries and nuts. Pour over cherry mixture and bake in a moderate oven. Loaf may be baked omitting cherry-nut mixture on bottom of pan.

When Your Back Hurts—And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and noisy urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

Too Tired to Sleep
A furniture store was displaying a new type of mattress on a bed in the window. To make the thing look more realistic, the store advertised for a "demonstrator."
The first applicant was a lazy-looking fellow. He yawned as the manager recited his duties.
"All you have to do," the manager said, "is to lie on that mattress in the window and pretend to sleep peacefully from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m."
"Those are awful long hours," the chronic loafer grumbled. "How about a rest period in between?"

TO YOUR Good Health

Released by Western Newspaper Union, FOCAL INFECTIONS

I have spoken before of two ardent fishermen who arose at five o'clock every morning to fish their favorite spots. One of the two met me one day and suggested that I go with him as his friend Bill did not seem to be as interested as formerly.

"When I call at Bill's house now he is sound asleep and when I return to show him my catch three hours later, he is still asleep. His family tells me he sleeps most of the time also."

Bill used to be a wideawake fellow. What was causing Bill to be sleepy all the time? The cause was infected teeth, but this was not discovered until it was too late to save his life.

What are the symptoms of infection from teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, large intestine, or other part of the body? "Tiredness, especially noted in the morning after a night's sleep which seems neither refreshing nor sufficient is a common symptom of focal infection. (Focal infection is where infection occurs at one focus or spot in the body and the poisons or wastes are carried from it by the blood to another spot. Thus the poison from an infected throat can go to a joint and set up an arthritis.)

"Apathy, lack of ambition, inability to concentrate and a dislike for mental work so that the patient must 'drive himself' to get anything done are often complained of. Dizziness, loss of appetite, temporary blurring of vision or blindness may be noted."

The above description of focal infection is given by Dr. M. Solis-Cohen in Medical World. It is worth while for all of us to study these symptoms of focal infection. The first thought might naturally be to take Epsom salts or other purgative to rid the large intestine and the blood of these poisons. This treatment would give relief where the cause is eating too much or exercising too little, as accumulated wastes from food can give symptoms of fatigue. But, where this tired, sleepy, "don't care" feeling is present all or most of the time, you should consult your physician and dentist.

Vision Improved by Vitamins A and B

It is interesting and very gratifying to learn that not only can many cases of color blindness be corrected but other disturbances of vision also, by simply improving the diet, especially by the use of foods containing vitamin A and vitamin B complex.

In the "Medical Clinics of North America," Dr. Arthur M. Yudkin, states: "Considerable effort has been made to improve the eyesight (especially night blindness) of some aviators, sailors, drivers, and others by giving them large quantities of vitamin A. Some of these persons improved only after a well balanced diet and an extra supply of vitamin A and vitamin B complex were given. Some of these persons also had difficulty in passing the color tests as prescribed by the army and navy. After the daily use of fish oil concentrates (20,000 units of vitamin A), a powerful vitamin B complex (two tablespoons of powerful yeast powder or an equivalent concentrate; and a well-balanced diet, the color vision, and the night blindness of many of these persons improved." Other diseases which affect the lining of the eyelids and the outer surface of the eyeball are also cured or helped by the use of vitamin A and vitamin B complex.

However, Dr. Yudkin does not suggest that treatment for these eye conditions should be by vitamins alone, but that a search should be made for the cause of these eye disturbances in these persons. Thus diseases of the stomach, liver and intestine may be preventing the body making full use of food eaten, including the vitamins. Only careful questioning by the physician may bring out that disturbances of the digestive system are present.

The thought then is that our eye specialists, because the tissues of the eyes are affected as can other tissues by lack of vitamins or other valuable foodstuffs, are able to notify the family physician of their findings. The eye disturbance can then be corrected by a suitable diet and removal of digestive disturbances.

QUESTION BOX
Q.—Will boiled flaxseed in water taken three times a day cure diabetes?
A.—If you really have diabetes you should follow the diet prescribed for you and use insulin if so directed.
Q.—Will you please explain the meaning of multiple lipomata?
A.—Multiple lipomata means a number of lipomata (fat tumors). They are harmless unless irritated.

MANY young homemakers are gaily setting forth to buy junk furniture for remodeling. The first thing they learn is to consider each piece not for what it is but for what it may be. The 40-year-old buffet shown here was picked up.

The sketch shows how the main part of the buffet was remodeled to make a chest under a window in a combination sewing and guest room. A wood chisel is useful for removing carving that is glued on and either putty or plastic wood may be used for filling screw holes and other holes. If the piece is varnished, it is best to rub it down with sandpaper to remove the high gloss before painting. What became of the mirror and legs of this buffet is another story to appear soon.
